Public Safety and Homeland Security Bureau Seeks Comment on Improving Wireless Network Resiliency Through Encouraging Coordination with Power Companies,
PS Docket No. 11-60

Dear Ms. Dortch:

On May 23, 2019, Christianna Barnhart, Joe Viens, and Johnathan Sargent of Charter Communications, Inc. ("Charter"), Beth Choroser, Brian Josef, and Thomas Smith of Comcast Corporation ("Comcast") met with Zenji Nakazawa, Public Safety and Consumer Protection Advisor to Chairman Pai, regarding the above-captioned docket.

During the meeting, Charter and Comcast discussed the importance of ensuring that beforehand and in the aftermath of natural disasters, communications providers are included in pre-disaster planning jointly with power companies and emergency operations center personnel and are able to efficiently adapt to changing conditions on the ground during emergencies. In addition, Charter and Comcast expressed appreciation for the Federal Communication Commission's efforts in encouraging better coordination and communication between communication service providers, electric utilities, and emergency officials. Consistent with this objective, Charter and Comcast highlighted their ongoing collaboration efforts with electric utility companies and other communications providers through working groups facilitated by the cable industry, such as NCTA and SCTE, and the Department of Homeland Security, about best practices for the restoration of services after natural disasters.

Please address any questions regarding the foregoing to the undersigned.

Sincerely,

/s/ Christianna Barnhart
